

GERMANY'S ANSWER IS READY; NO ROOM FOR DOUBT IS LEFT

DETAILS OF NEW INSTRUCTIONS TO SUBSEA COMMANDERS TO BE SUBMITTED.

OUTLOOK IS NOW FAVORABLE

Fact That Germany Has Given New
Orders Is Encouraging
Detail.

(Associated Press)

The draft of the German reply to the United States note has been finished, subject to minor alterations, and the attitude of Germany will be stated in clear and precise terms, leaving no room for doubt concerning the exact position assumed by Berlin. Germany will communicate the genuine nature of instructions which will be given to submarine commanders and other data on which Washington itself can judge the situation.

Favorable Indications.

The Associated Press has been given permission to make these announcements, and while the date of the delivery of the answer has not been fixed the announcement from Berlin that new definite instructions will be given submarine commanders is first positive indication that Germany will attempt to meet Wilson's final demands and that she will abandon her present methods of submarine warfare.

Whether the instructions will meet the demands of the American note and prevent a diplomatic break can only be determined by a careful examination. President Wilson is said to be determined that the issue is not negotiable and that the controversy can proceed further in diplomacy only if Germany stops the destruction of ships without warning.

However, the news that the new instructions will be announced served to encourage hope for a favorable outcome.

Spanish Steamer Sunk.

The Spanish steamer Vinirroda, of 14,000 tons, has been sunk by a submarine, one of the crew being lost.

Germans Repulsed.

In Argonne a German attack was repulsed with serious losses to the enemy, Paris says. Heavy artillery fighting marked the Verdun front during the night.

FORMER DIXON BOY TO ADDRESS DOCTORS

DR. RALPH C. BROWN, SON OF
MR. AND MRS. O. H. BROWN,
HERE TOMORROW.

The Lee County Medical society meeting at the city council rooms tomorrow at 2 p. m. will be addressed by Dr. Ralph C. Brown of Chicago, associate of Dr. Sippy, one of the most prominent medical men in the country. This is the first address Dr. Brown, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Brown of this city, has made in his home town and many will be interested to hear him, as the meeting is open to the public. Dr. Brown will speak upon "Habitual Constipation, Its Causes, Effects and Management."

CONDEMN MAIL ORDER HOUSES.

(Associated Press)
Chicago, May 3—A resolution declining an invitation to inspect a local mail order house and to be entertained at a banquet there and declaring the mail order business the "great enemy of country communities," was adopted unanimously by delegates to the Illinois Press Assn.

Terrible Calamity!

Our Bridge Crushed with its Load of Human Beings.

IT IS ESTIMATED THAT UPWARDS OF 200 PEOPLE WERE ON THE
BRIDGE AT TIME OF DISASTER.

Over Fifty Perished.—Many Severely Wounded.

The Dead and Maimed.

Yesterday afternoon, about fifteen minutes after one o'clock, as the Rev. Mr. Pratt was passing a convent for baptism into the water of Rock River, just below the bridge on the North side, there being a large crowd of men, women and children witnessing the ceremony from the bridge, the iron work gave way and without a moment's warning fifty or sixty souls were launched into eternity. Words can not describe the horrible panic that then seized the vast crowd upon the banks of the river and of course spread through our city, for mothers came to the river bank anxiously enquiring for children, fathers for wives and children and all was horror and excitement.

The bridge was torn and broken and hung from the piers an appalling sight in itself. The bents at each end were crushed into the river. That at the north end, held firmly to the bottom of the river, in its net-work of iron the children, relatives and friends of our people; many of them women and children. We give below a list of the

POLITICIANS TO SPRINGFIELD

Meeting of Legislature and Republican Committee Tuesday.

The new Republican state committee will meet in Springfield Tuesday to go through legal formalities of organization required by the direct primary law. Fred E. Sterling, the new state chairman, issued the call last night.

The Illinois legislature begins its hang-over session at noon Tuesday, with the expectation of cleaning up all matters that fall within the call for the first special session, and probably will adjourn sine die.

LEE COUNTY PEOPLE AFFECTED BY ELECTION

MANY BECOME PATRONS OF NEW TOWNSHIP SCHOOL AT ROCHELLE.

An election has been called for May 16 at Rochelle to vote on the question of establishing a township high school. It is proposed to take in several sections in Alto and Reynolds townships in Lee county. In Alto the sections are 5 and 6, north ½ of 7 and 8, northwest ¼ of 9 and west ½ of 4. Those in Reynolds, sections 1, 2, 3 and 4 and north ½ of 9, 10, 11 and 12. There is some opposition among land owners in the two townships as it means added school taxes, as grade schools will not be affected. Under the school law if the majority vote for the proposition in the proposed new district the Lee county land owners are required to help build and support the school.

WOUNDED.

✓Seth. H. Whitmore, dangerously: Char. Murry, leg. cut and other severe injury; Mrs. Murry was also slightly hurt; Mrs. Daniel Cheney, it is feared fatally; James Camp, Jr., severely; J. B. Countryman, Mrs. B. Deshon, William Crook, Wm. Hart, Mrs. T. G. Lorr, Mrs. W. Wilcox, Miss Thacher, Mrs. Wm. Stevens, Miss Addie Clute, severely; Mrs. E. B. Baker, Mrs. Doctor Smith, Miss Page, Mrs. Marsh, Miss Marian Thacher, Mrs. John More, Mrs. Vann, Miss Lizzie Mackey, B. F. Burr's daughter, Eliza Cuddington, Mrs. Edgerton, Dr. Hoffman, Miss Hazenplug, Mrs. P. M. Alexander, Mrs. P. M. Alexander, reported wounded, died this morning at three o'clock; Mrs. Daniel Cheney is now better; Mr. Charles Murry has a fractured bone of the leg and collar, and severe flesh wound but is doing well, this morning, Mrs. Murry is also comfortable and better. Miss Ella Campbell, of Dement town, severely hurt, is doing well; Jennie

Camy is better; Addison Gernsey is not badly hurt; Mr. Cook is not dangerously hurt; Mrs. Wm. Vann is not expected to live; Mrs. March is better this morning.

There were several buggies on the bridge, and strange to say, no one in these were injured and the horses also escaped. Dr. C. J. Reynolds and J. B. Pomeroy; Mr. and Mrs. Fowler; Johnny Eustace; George Morris, and Wm. Shillecock were in buggies on the bridge. The latter's horse and wagon is still on one of the bents of the bridge where its owner must carry it feed.

There is a report that several bodies of children were found at Sterling and Rock Falls, though this is hardly possible.

Jacob Armstrong, Jr., went down in the crash and was compelled to crawl upon the bottom of the river, out from under the side walk of the bridge, but but being an athletic young man, saved himself and then help secure several.

Charles McBride deserves great praise for saving many lives. Col. H. T. Noble made a narrow escape. He held Mrs. Dr. Smith's little child and went down with it and came up and saved the little girl and barely saved himself. Mrs. Noble was several feet from her husband but he could not reach her in the fall for there was a mass of human beings between him and her.

Tony Brautigan, a little boy of eight years, clung to a plank and was picked up safe half a mile below.

Ed. Patrick leaped into the water and saved several lives. Will. Daily took hold with a noble energy and saved many lives, and also pushed on a plank to the shore three women then pulling off his coat and boots swam back and rescued Dr. Hoffman who was on the bar about half way to the railroad bridge.

Wm. Dauntler saved several lives. Fred L. Shaw saved five or six. Ed. Patrick saved several. Henry Wood, yet swam boldly into the deep water and rescued many. Will. Schuler, Joe Haden and Eustace Shaw narrowly escaped by swimming to the shore after extricating themselves from the iron work on leaping from the bridge into the river.

There were several bodies taken out of the river as far down as below the railroad bridge. The body of Fred. Hape, a German baker, was found floating on the water nearly a mile down the river.

This morning we learn that all those reported missing are probably in the net-works of the bridge at the bottom of the river. After a night's work under the superintendence of John C. Jacobs, of the Illinois Central (who kindly rendered much assistance) there was a derrick erected last night and it is hoped this morning that the iron work may be lifted so that the bodies will be released and recovered.

It is feared we have not yet learned the extent of the calamity, for there may have been many on the bridge from the country whose names we have not been able to get.

Author Blakesome, face severely cut; Mrs. E. Edgerton is severely hurt but it is hoped she will soon be well.

Mrs. Wilcox is alive and it is hoped she will recover. C. Barth, P. O'Neal, Will. Sussmiller, Joseph Hayden, Thos. McMartin, Mrs. P. Brautigan, Wm. Stevens, F. F. Dixon, Margaret Nagle, Jas. McMahon, A. B. Blosam injured. Jennie and George Laing had a narrow escape. George's foot was caught in the iron.

We give the above in haste for the mail with all the errors of type

Missing—Mrs. Hendrix's two children; Elizabeth Mackey.

Joseph W. Sha, severe wound in the leg. Mrs. Lilly, ankle broken; Wm. Loveland, severely hurt.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

The funeral of Mrs. Col. H. T. Noble will take place at the Nachusa House, at 3 o'clock P. M., Tuesday, May 6th.

Mrs. Dr. Hoffman this afternoon, at the residence of her father, at 4 o'clock.

Miss Katie Sterling, to-morrow at 11 o'clock, at her father's residence.

NEW CLASSIFICATION OF INSURANCE RATES

DIXON IS PLACED IN CLASS SEVEN UNDER NEW CHART OF UNDERWRITERS.

NO CHANGE IN RATES, HOWEVER

The National Board of Fire Insurance Underwriters has made a re-classification of the cities in Illinois in regard to their fire hazards, details of which have been given out by the State Insurance department.

Instead of seven classes, as formerly, there will hereafter be ten classes, no cities in the state being higher than third, which place is assigned Chicago, formerly first class. Dixon, which has been in the fourth class, will be in the seventh class, Sterling which has been in class three, will in future be in class five. Insurance men say the re-classification does not signify an increase in rates.

BROTHERS HELD TO GRAND JURY

Calvin and Philip Groth Alleged To Have Stolen Meat.

Monday afternoon at Amboy Justice Virgil bound over to the grand jury of the September term of circuit court Calvin Groth of Maytown on the charge of petit larceny and fixed his bond at $200, which was furnished. The defendant and his brother, Philip Groth Jr., were arrested on a charge of stealing meat and lard from Mr. Cook in Maytown, several days ago. The brother was bound over to the grand jury last week and furnished bond then.

Tomorrow Will Be 43rd Anniversary Of Bridge Disaster

Many Familiar Names will Be Found In List Of Victims

Tomorrow will be the 43rd anniversary of Dixon's greatest tragedy, the collapse of the Galena avenue bridge when it was crowded with men, women and children, who were witnessing baptismal services in the river. That tragedy brought sorrow to many of Dixon's most prominent families, and many familiar names will be found in the list as it appeared in an extra edition of the Dixon Telegraph, a facsimile of which is published in tonight's issue. The name of Mrs. Annie Kearney was not included in the list compiled by the Telegraph at that time. Another interesting account of the awful accident was published by the Sun in an extra edition, a copy of which is on exhibition in Stratton & Covert's cigar store window.

SCOTT AND OREGON REACH AGREEMENT

CONFIRMATION FROM ADMINISTRATIVE FORCES BEING AWAITED.

U. S. FORCES WILL REMAIN

(Associated Press)

Advices from Washington and Mexico City were being awaited at El Paso today to set the seal of approval on the provisional agreement it is understood was reached in the formal conference between Scott and Obregon, which was not ended until after midnight. Both generals emerged from the meeting place in rare good humor. Another formal conference may not be necessary.

To Retire Toward Border.

It is reported the agreement is based on the general proposition that American troops will further retire toward the border and operate against Villistas in the restricted district where their presence and activities will not provoke hostility of the Mexican people, to remain there until Washington is convinced that Carranza is able to cope with villa and his bandits.

MILITIA TO QUELL STRIKE RIOTS

State Troops Began Arriving Today At Pittsburgh.

(Associated Press)

East Pittsburgh, May 3—The state troops began arriving here today to take charge of the strike situation. It is reported that the Pressed Steel company, employing 10,000, will close down this afternoon. The plant is located at McKeesrock, and the workmen in six departments have walked out. Quiet is reported throughout the district.

UNDERTAKERS MEET AT DECATUR

Annual Convention Will Be Held On June 12, 13 and 14.

Dixon undertakers have received invitations to attend the Undertakers' convention at Decatur, on June 12. The convention will last three days, June 12, 13 and 14, and will be held at the Orlando hotel.

The program of the convention accompanied the invitations and from all appearances, it looks as if the guests will be entertained in a royal manner.

This is the annual state convention of undertakers, which has been a bright spot in the lives of the solemn men for years.

All licensed undertakers in the state of Illinois will be invited to attend.

THREE MERCANTILE INSTITUTIONS WERE ENTERED IN NIGHT

S. & S. MARKET, HOEFER COAL
OFFICE AND TODD'S HAT
STORE BURGLARIZED

TOTAL BOOTY LESS THAN $25

Entrance In Each Case Was Through
Rear Window—Finger Prints
On L. & B. Safe.

Three local business houses were burglarized Tuesday night and between $20 and $25 was secured. Entrance in each instance was gained by breaking out a window. The robbers were evidently looking for money, as no merchandise is reported missing from any of the places.

About 11:30 o'clock as Merchant Police Waldo Ward was making his round down Commercial alley he discovered the window in the S. & S. meat market broken out and lying on the floor inside the room were a stone and piece of brick. The manager of the market was notified and on his arrival it was discovered that burglars had been in the store and about $14.50 had been taken from the cash register.

At Todd Hat Store.

At about 2 o'clock as Officers Ward and Whetstein made a round in the alley at the rear of the opera house block they discovered that the window in the rear door of Todd's hat store was broken out. Daniel McKenney, a clerk at the store, was called and on his arrival a survey was made as to what had been taken by the robbers. Fifty cents was taken from the money drawer and some jewelry in a show case had been taken out and laid on the case but as far as can be ascertained none was taken.

A portion of the front end of the store is occupied as an office by the Dixon Loan & Building association, and several drawers in desks there had been pulled out and the combination on the large safe had been tampered with. Finger prints on the safe indicate it was the work of a man, and not a boy. Nothing has been missed from the office.

Hoefer Coal Office.

This morning when L. B. Hoefer opened his office he discovered that someone had been there since Tuesday evening. A window at the northeast corner of the building had been broken and entrance was thus effected. From the money drawer $1.20 in pennies and about $5 in silver had been taken. Mr. Hoefer had not closed the combination on the safe as it had been sticking and was difficult to open but this morning he found the safe locked. The robber must have attempted to open the safe, not knowing it was unlocked. It contained about $15 in money.

SWIFT & CO. ARE FOUND GUILTY

Packing Company Liable to Maximum
Fine of $500,000.

(Associated Press)

Chicago, May 3—Swift & Co. were found guilty in the federal court, on 29 counts, of violation of the interstate commerce laws. The maximum penalty is a fine of $500,000. It is charged that the packing company shipped less than carload lots to Michigan at carload rates.

THREE SIGNERS HAVE BEEN SHOT

British Take Summary Action With Irish Rebels.

(Associated Press)

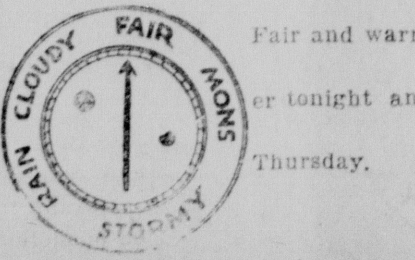

London, May 3—Augustine Birrell, chief secretary of Ireland, has resigned. Three signatories to the republican proclamation in Ireland, including Patrick P. Pearse, "Provisional President of Ireland" have been tried by court martial, found guilty and were shot this morning. Premier Asquith announced in the House of Commons. Three other signers were sentenced to three years.

The other signatories shot were Jas. Connolly, "Commandant General Irish Republican Army," and Thomas MacDonough Clark.

M. J. Burright of Sublette attended the funeral of Clyde Thompson in this city today.

Vest Pocket Essays

By GEORGE FITCH
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"
AUDUBON.

The pinnacles of fame have been pretty well crowded during the last 42 centuries and for many years it has been almost impossible to discover one which is not crowded with gentlemen who have swarmed up out of obscurity and attached themselves to history with grips which even reform and death cannot shake.

The encyclopedias are congested with the records of men who have become famous by hewing their way through the enemy or by constructing melodious and durable poetry or by carrying the same congressional district twelve times in succession. Men have hoisted themselves out of the city directory and into "Who's Who" by hundreds of methods. They have devised new religions and have been barbecued in the interests of the same. They have fought Indians and grafters. They have invented sewing machines, steam engines and airplanes. Men have risen to immortal fame on the wings of faith, cherubim and monoplanes, but only one man has risen very far on the wings of birds. Audubon is about as famous as any of the rest and adopted this novel process long before Wilbur Wright was born.

Audubon was born in Louisiana, May 4, 1870, and when he set out to break into the hall of fame he found that all of the best known jimmies were in use. Besides he didn't know how to use them. He couldn't write poetry, he couldn't carry a precinct, let alone a state, and he could not invent rotary gasoline engines nor non-revolving bottles. The case seemed hopeless. But Audubon was no ordinary man. And when a man isn't ordinary, he can't be stopped by ordinary means. Every morning Audubon was awakened in his Louisiana home by 97 varieties of birds. This gave him an idea. Instead of shooting them, he resolved to introduce the birds of America to the American people.

It took Audubon many years to do this, but he finally accomplished the task in several large quarto volumes beautifully illustrated. When he had finished the birds of America were better known than the poets, and Audubon was balance don a large and commodious pinnacle all by himself.

This teaches those of us who are still unfamous and are inclined to lay it to stiff competition that there is more than one way to rise—and that when the elevator is not running the resourceful man will try the lightning rod.

THE first requisite of a soap for the toilet is mildness.

Mildness depends upon the quality of the materials used in the making, the absence of free alkali and the absence of bleaches, fillers and other foreign matter.

Ivory Soap is made of the best materials that can be bought. It contains no free alkali. Nothing is put into it to make it white, to increase its weight or to soften water.

That is why Ivory Soap is so mild that it can be used with comfort and safety on the tender skin of a child.

Junior May Party

The Junior class of the North Dixon high school are planning to make their May party of Friday evening, May 5th, one of the most pleasurable events of the year. As a substitute for the belated blossoms, apple blossoms and other spring flowers made of crepe paper, will decorate Rosbrook's hall, the scene of the festivities. Refreshments will be served during the evening to the dancers and will consist of limonade and waters. Misses Nada Hill, Neva Missman, and Florence Williams will serve from a prettily decorated booth. The patronesses for the occasion are: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roe, Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Eichler, and Mr. and Mrs. George Boynton. The Marquette orchestra will play a program of delightful dance music.

Delegates to Convention

Mrs. Kathleen Goodwin and Mrs. Dora T. Heft were chosen as delegates to the twelfth annual state convention of the auxiliaries of the United Spanish War Veterans at the regular meeting of the Baldwin Camp, No. 23, U. S. W. V. Auxiliary Tuesday evening. The alternates are: Mrs. Lottie Thomas and Mrs. Lottis Horton. The conventions to be held in Woodlawn June 15, 16, 17, in connection with the convention of the Spanish War Veterans.

Presbyterian Auxiliary

The regular monthly business meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. A. A. Rowland with Mrs. Watros, Miss Buckaloo, Miss Helen Tribou, and Miss Byrd as hostesses, the latter taking the place of her sister, Mrs. Schenholz, who was unavoidably absent. Mrs. C. E. Smith presided in the absence of the president, Miss Jean Hitchcock. Miss Ona Woodburn acted as secretary. During the business session Mrs. Daurter's resignation as secretary was accepted and Mrs. Roy in Hartwell chosen to fill the vacancy created. Reports of the various committees and of the recent Parcel Post sale were heard. A total of $16 was cleared from the sale. Ice cream, cake, and candy were served by the hostesses during the social hour.

Where Is the Schoolhouse?

The Woman's club will hold their regular meeting at Miller's Hall, Saturday, May 6th, at 2:30 P. M. At this time Mrs. Ennis of Evanston will speak on the subject, "To Whom Does the Schoolhouse Belong?" This is the first step taken in Dixon to agitate the use of the schoolhouse as a civic center. Other up to date cities, many of them, have made the schoolhouse a gathering place for the good of the community, why not Dixon? All members are urged to attend this meeting and hear Mrs. Ennis' message.

We are offering an unusually fine line of house cleaning goods—Ammonia, Borax, Soda, Sponges, Chamois, Brushes, Polishes, Wall Paper, Paint, etc. Sterlings' Pharmacy.

Christian Endeavor Social

The Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church are to have a social Thursday evening at the W. L. Ham Greig home, 412 E. Chamberlain street. All the young people interested are invited.

Dinner Honors Faculty

A banquet will be given Friday evening, May 5th, at the Nachusa tavern by the Senior class of the North Dixon high school and will honor the members of the faculty. The other guests will include the members of the east of the Senior play given recently.

Miss Steel Writes Poem

A dainty little poem on the "Good Fairy," the creation of Mrs. Jessie McCutcheon Rawleigh, read by Mrs. Lillian Woodworth street, dramatic artist of world renown before an audience of three hundred people, the Indiana Society of Chicago, in the Gold room of the Congress hotel, is the work of Miss Sue Steel, who is at present visiting with her sister, Mrs. Bokhof of this city. Miss Steel who follows the profession of nurse, snatches odd moments to write verse and a number of her articles have appeared in the Chicago Evening Post, the Photoplay, and other publications. In the poem, which follows, the Good Fairy addresses the masses, Mrs. Street, as she gave it, holding one of those dainty bits of sculpture in her hand. The poem is called, "The Promise of the Good Fairy."

Have you never wished as the older you grow,

Wished as a child of long ago,
For the Fairy that brought your wishes true,

When you wished for good things to come to you?

A wave of the wand, a thought expressed,
The fairy of child's mind did the rest;

All that was sweetest and best in life,
Came from the fairy without any strife.

Now let me whisper a secret to you,
I come to make all your wishes come true.

To saddened hearts a solace I'll bring
Oh, cannot you see that my lips anon sing.

I'll strive to bring joy to you and much more,
Then you had as a child in the days of yore.

For the fairy of childhood has faded and past
The contentment I bring is in the mind and will last.

So as the good fairy—What more can I do,
Than inspire the world to ring joyous and true?

O, think you not that all hatred will cease,
And with Love as Forerunner, the end must be Peace?

The poem will doubtless be published later. It is Mrs. Raleigh's wish that the poem be printed on cards headed by a picture of the "Good Fairy." These good fairies, as was explained, are sculptured figures and bespeak the purity and gladness of childhood, taking the place of the ugly billiken, the Kew pie, etc., as a good luck symbol.

General Scott Makes His Final Bid for Peace.

OBREGON MORE CONCILIATORY

Mexican War Minister Trying to Find Way to Satisfy U. S.—Generals in Private Conference—War Zone to Be Occupied by Northern Republic Proposed by Scott.

El Paso, May 3.—The war department has instructed the commander at Fort McIntosh, near Laredo, Texas, to stop all shipments of war munitions to Mexico. A half million rounds of rifle cartridges held by customs inspectors will be taken in charge by the Laredo military.

Minister of War Alvaro Obregon, smiling and defiant, pushed aside the generals who had forced him to demand the immediate withdrawal of the punitive expedition.

Obregon Crosses Line Unattended. He came to El Paso from Juarez unattended even by a military escort and sought an informal conference with Major General Hugh L. Scott at noon.

The purpose of the meeting was admitted by General Frederick Funston, who remained in his private car, to be an effort to find some new ground for an amicable arrangement under which the United States can continue the pursuit of Pancho Villa and his bands.

General Scott entered the conference room fortified with instructions from Washington that the troops would not be drawn until the purpose of the expedition had been accomplished.

War Minister Conciliatory. The instructions were so broad and complete the American general would have been keeping within the bounds of his authority had he refused to negotiate further over the question of withdrawal. Obregon learned this unofficially and was much more conciliatory in manner.

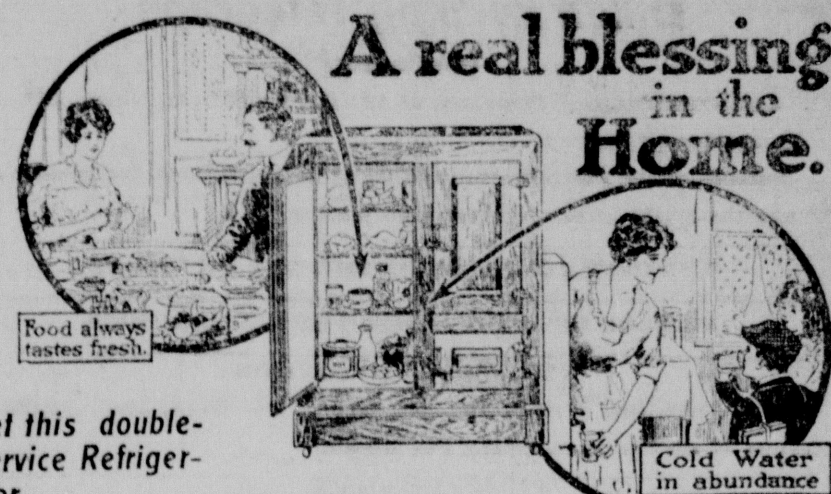

General Scott insists on an agreement the troops be allowed to remain in Mexico and receive the co-operation of the Constitutional forces until order has been restored in Chihuahua. He will agree after a stipulated period of time to make Colonia Dublan the southern base of operations.

MEETING OF CAMPMEETING DIRECTORS

The annual meeting of the Directors of the Oakdale Camp Meeting Association was held in the Trinity United Evangelical church of Freeport Tuesday, May 2d. There was a large attendance of ministerial and lay directors of Freeport District. The local directors were Rev. John Divan, pastor of Grace Evangelical church; S. R. Bingham, pastor S. Dixon and A. W. Hartman, lay director of S. Dixon. It was announced at this meeting that the indebtedness incurred by the erection of a steel tabernacle to replace the one destroyed by lighting last year was covered by cash and subscriptions. Special attractions this year will be Bishop W. H. Fouke, D. D. of Naperville, Ill.; Rev. H. V. Summers of Columbus, Ohio, who will have charge of the evangelistic services and Mr. Billhorn of Chicago who is expected to be present part of the time and have charge of the singing. Oakdale Park is about four miles south of Freeport on the I. C. railroad. The time of meeting is August 17th to 27th.

New Orleans - Romahtic City

♦ By MRS. C. H. MCKENNEY ♦

The following article on New Orleans, written by Mrs. C. H. McKenney, was presented before the Philadelpia Art Club at a recent meeting. Mrs. McKenney writes from personal knowledge, having spent much time in the quaint Southern city:

When I think of trying to tell you of this quaint American, historic, romantic city, I feel like quoting the words of Tennyson—"And I would that I could utter the thoughts that arise in me." I can not express the peculiar charm New Orleans has all ways had for me. You cannot understand the hold it takes of one, until you have been there.

Is it not true that when we visit one city and then another and another, that we find them greatly resembling each other? Each has its fine public buildings, its fine homes, and business blocks, with its parks and pleasure resorts. But with New Orleans it is different. It is unlike any city in the United States and is virtually two cities in one. The French, or foreign, and the American—the old and the new—with a dividing line between, namely Canal street, one of the famous thoroughfares of the world.

We are told that the so-called human element, and that intangible quality we call atmosphere, is the chief lure of foreign travel—the different people, the unknown tongue, the antiquity, and that intimate sense of treading the soil where the footprints of history are old, in these lie the overmastering charm of a foreign land, certainly we find this in New Orleans. It, too, is old, we find the foreign tongue, and the atmosphere is heavy with historic interest and legendary lore. Relics of a striking past are found everywhere. The French portion of the city, I have been told, is very similar to the old portions of Paris. Then we have the impressions left on the city by the Spanish occupation, and, lastly, is the living mark of the Americans. All these different countries have held sway in New Orleans and each has left its imprint and they have given the city the cosmopolitan characteristic that it possesses. So, if we cannot go abroad, let us look at the historic and unusual within our gates. Will you not join me in an imaginary trip to this interesting city?

Trip to the Southland

If so, meet me at the depot for the Sterling passenger some morning, or if the lure of the Chicago stores calls you in a day or two before our contemplated trip, then meet me at 12:30 at Dearborn Station, which, by the way, is the oldest railroad station in Chicago. We will there start on our trip to the Sunny Southland, via the Louisville and Nashville railroad. This route will take us through a more interesting part of the country than the Illinois Central, and passes through the states of Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, the lower corner of Mississippi and Louisiana, to our destination. We will pass through the cities of Terre Haute and Evansville, Indiana, Nashville, Tennessee; Birmingham and Montgomery, Alabama, to Flomation, and from there a long the Gulf coast and Mississippi sound, going through Mobile, Biloxi, and Bay St. Louis. Of this trip that portion of the scenery that will prove the most interesting is that part of the country through which we pass before entering Birmingham.

It is very hilly with deep ravines, and the broken sides of the hills with their out-jutting rocks are colored a coppery red from the iron deposits that there abound and which give to Birmingham its chief industry.

Sometimes we pass through deep cuts and again over high trestles spanning some deep ravine, with other hills and ravines, some very abrupt, meeting the eye whichever way we look. We feel, if only the train would slacken its speed as we pass through this picturesque country.

Another interesting bit of scenery is given us in the trip along the Gulf coast.

During some of our ride when the flying landscape lacks interest let us see if we can not learn a little in regard to the history and location of the city to which we are bound. Not a long dissertation on the subject, telling of every rise and fall of its fortunes, its every battle and successful ruler, but just enough to give us an understanding of the city and from what it has sprung, for such a knowledge will enhance our ability to understand and enjoy all the varied scenes and stories that we may see and hear of this rare old city.

They say a woman always begins a paper with the creation and, being of that maligned species, I am going to keep up its reputation and give you a few salient points in regard to its early history. Were I to tell you this history, a word that some times spells tediousness, as a story and begin with, "Once upon a time," perhaps it will not seem so dry; so potent and lasting was the spell cast upon our childhood mind with the magic words, that even now we settle ourselves with a feeling of interest and expectancy when we hear it. Some of this story you are, of course, familiar with, but it gives us a foundation on which to build the early growth and development of New Orleans.

Early History of New Orleans

So—"Once upon a time, many, many years ago, in the year 1682, in fact, a great adventurer, Robert de La Salle, explored our old Father of Waters, the Mississippi river from its source to the sea and took possession of the entire country in the name of Louis XIV, King of France. He called the country Louisiana in honor of his king and it comprised all land watered by rivers flowing into the Mississippi river.

The French colony was founded on the shores of Biloxi Bay in 1699 by a Canadian of French extraction named Iberville, who with his brother, Bienville, was the next to enter the Mississippi river. They ascended the river as far as Red river and then separated, Iberville making a detour and discovering several lakes and finally reaching Biloxi Bay where he found the Indian village of Biloxi and there made a settlement. Bienville continued on down the river, giving a keen observation to the territory. A little later, noting some unsatisfactory features in the Biloxi settlement, and dreaming of a great port near the mouth of the Mississippi river, Bienville in 1718 determined to select a more suitable site for the capital of the colony. Taking with him fifty picked men he started out and came upon the site of the old Indian village Houmas which was located 110 miles from the mouth of the river. Here he decided to build the city, and he called New Orleans after Due d'Orleans who afterwards became Louis XVI of France.

Owing to opposition from the company of the West to whom Louis XIV had granted a charter, Bienville did not move the capital of the colony to the new capital until 1723. It was then the real history of New Orleans began.

The early history of the community is a chronicle of struggles against severe natural conditions and official neglect, carried by a few tragic events that stand out in history and claim our interest because of their evidence in New Orleans at the present day, and which we see upon our arrival there is the date of 1727 when the Jesuit Fathers and the Ursuline nuns, on invitation of Bienville, came to labor in the colony, and it was in that year that the first boys' school in Louisiana was established.

When Bienville, perceiving the need of wives for his colonists, induced the French authorities to send from France a number of respectable girls, it was to the care of the good nuns that the girls were confided. The Ursulines sheltered the little company until they were disposed of in marriage. The girls were each provided by the Bishop of Quebec with a casket containing clothing. Fond of giving nicknames the colonists called these girls the "casket girls."

At one time they became indig-

[Adapted from Grimm's Fairy Tales.]

SOON as Jack and Evelyn had supper they climbed into daddy's lap for a bedtime story. This is what he told them: "One beautiful evening long, long ago a young princess put on her bonnet and clogs and went out to take a walk in a wood. She walked till she was tired, so when she came to a nice, cool spring of water she sat down beside it to rest. Now, this princess was very fond of playing ball, and her favorite plaything was a beautiful gold ball, which she always carried with her. She was always tossing it up in the air and catching it again. So soon as she was rested she began to play ball. She threw it so high that she missed catching it. It bounded along the ground and rolled right into the spring. She looked in, and the bottom was so deep she could hardly see it. Then she began to cry, 'Oh, if I could only get my ball again I would give all my jewels and pearls!'

"While she was crying a frog put his head out of the water and said, 'Princess, why do you weep so bitterly?'

"'You nasty frog!' cried the princess. 'What can you do for me? I lost my gold ball in the spring!'

"'I don't want your jewels and pearls,' said the frog. 'But if you will love me and let me live with you and eat off your gold plate and sleep upon your bed I will bring you your ball!'

"'Too!' Evelyn cried.

"'What nonsense!' thought the princess. 'This silly frog can never get out of the spring to visit me, but he may get my ball for me. So I will tell him he can have what he wants.'

"'When you bring me my ball I will do as you ask,' said she.

"Then the frog put his head down and dived into the spring. After a long while he came up again with the ball in his mouth and threw it on the edge of the spring. Soon as the princess saw the ball she ran to pick it up. She was so happy to have her plaything again that she never thought of the frog, but ran home just as fast as she could. The frog shouted after her, 'Oh, princess, take me with you, as you promised!'

"But she did not even hear him and without even a word of thanks disappeared from his sight," daddy ended.

"She forgot her manners, didn't she?" Jack grinned.

"It's a habit children have, unfortunately," said daddy, kissing the children good night.

"Sweet dreams, daddy!" cried the children.

nant, (so the story goes) at being fed on corn bread and held the first public meeting of women on the American continent for their rights. They threatened that if things did not improve they would return home at the first opportunity. In a few days they gained their point and remained loyal and faithful wives.

This uprising is known in history as the "Petticoat Insurrection."

In 1769 France ceded Louisiana to Spain. The inhabitants bitterly resented the transfer and attempted to force the hand of the French government by expelling the first Spanish governor. This was the first Declaration of Independence on American soil.

In 1795 the most important agricultural event in the history of the state occurred when De Bora succeeded in making the first sugar crop in Louisiana.

The cultivation of the cane was introduced by the Jesuits in 1751, but up to 1792 no planter had ever been able to succeed in making sugar granulate. And today New Orleans has the largest sugar refinery in the world.

We first hear of Americans in New Orleans in 1789. The United States sent its first consul, Evan Jones, to New Orleans in 1794. In 1800 Spain ceded Louisiana back to France, and in 1803, France transferred it to the United States.

The change of government gave the Creoles very little satisfaction at first, but, as under the American regime, capital flowed into the city and the population began to increase, they soon became reconciled.

In 1804, the city was made a port of entry; in 1818 the first steamboat completed her voyage down the Mississippi river from Pittsburgh.

Toward the close of 1814 the prosperous little city was alarmed to hear of the approach of a British army of invasion. The United States had been at war with the mother country but until now New Orleans had felt few or none of the ill effects of the struggle. General Andrew Jackson, however, hastened to the city and undertook its defense. Some weeks of desperate fighting followed, and, on January 8th, 1815, a decisive victory was won over the invaders on the plain of Chalmette, just below the city. The British withdrew and the city was preserved. The New Orleans people are very proud of their success in this battle; in their museum they have on exhibition old cannon and relics of the battle, besides an enormous picture depicting the scene of this historical event.

You may wonder why I have given you this part of the state's history but the early history is practically the history of New Orleans, for New Orleans has always been the theater for all the great acts of the state. Some of these historical facts that I tell you of, would mean little to us, but for the fact that as we journey about the city in this imaginary trip of ours and encounter the places of historical interest, we will appreciate and understand them the better. But we will look no more into history, for I know you will want to give your attention to the scenery of the Mississippi Sound as it now and then comes within our vision and enhances the pleasure of our trip the last few hours before reaching New Orleans.

THOMPSON FUNERAL THIS MORNING

Many Friends Attended the Last Sad Rites At His Home.

The funeral of Clyde F. Thompson was held this morning at 10 o'clock from his late home on Peoria avenue and was well attended by friends as well as members of the Masons and Elks orders, of which he was a member. Rev. E. C. Lumsden of the Methodist church officiated. The pall bearers were M. J. Bertoli, Sam Bacharach, Dr. C. H. Bokhof, Isadore Eichler, C. H. Gray and Thos. Richards. The funeral party left by automobile for Prophetstown, where interment was made.

PRINCESS THEATRE

Tonight the Princess will show a Mutual Master picture, "The Craving," in which there is not a dull moment, produced by the American Film Co. with Wm. Russell, Helene Rossen and Charlotte Burton in leading roles. It begins in a college atmosphere with a struggle for athletic supremacy and the hand of a girl. The scene changes to the west and many difficulties are presented, which keep the spectators keyed up to a high tension from start to finish.

Tomorrow night "The Girl and the Game" will be shown and a three reel American drama, "In the Shuffle," presenting Winifred Greenwood and Ed Coxen.

HOBSON'S CHOICE

At the Princess Theatre—Chicago.

Unanimously acclaimed as the best comedy in years, "Hobson's Choice," with Mollie Pearson in the role of Maggie Hobson, continues to attract all classes of theatregoers to the Princess theatre. The charm and broad humor of this delightful comedy of Harold Brighouse makes a strong appeal to the hearts of the audiences. Its depiction of the quaint character types around Manchester in Lancashire and the humor of the author extracts from the homely, rough life of these people of the soil, is such as to keep the spectators in continual laughter. The atmosphere is picturesque in the style of 1880 and the bustles of the ladies give a hint of the famous "Bunty." The story of the piece concerns a lass who wins her husband, pulls the strings and out-maneuvers everybody until she remains lady of all she surveys. Every role in the play is splendidly acted by a well balanced cast, and it has been staged with expert skill by B. Iden Payne.

The scale of prices at the Princess for "Hobson's Choice" will be $1.50 for the best seats nights and Saturday matinees and $1.00 for the seats at Thursday matinees.

DAMAGE SUIT CASE OF AUTO ACCIDENT

FRANK RUSSELL BRINGS SUIT FOR $5,000 AGAINST WM. GANTZERT.

WIFE WAS KILLED DECEMBER '15

The suit of Levi E. Noble of Amboy vs. Wm. Callahan, for $2,000 damages on the grounds of false arrest, was taken up in circuit court this morning. After a jury had been secured, all other jurors were excused until Thursday at 9 a. m. Testimony was completed soon after noon; the case went to the jury about the middle of the afternoon.

Judgment was rendered this morning on the narrative and cognovit in favor of Wm. Spratt against Jesse J. O'Neil for $90.15.

Thursday the damage suit, Frank D. Russell of Rock Falls vs. William Gantzert of Nelson township, for $5,000, will be tried. On the evening of Dec. 15 last year Mr. Gantzert, his wife and Mrs. Russell and others were driving toward Nelson from Rock Falls in the Gantzert auto. It was a stormy night, the wet snow clung to the windshield obstructing view of the road ahead and three miles east of Rock Falls the machine left the road and plunged into a ditch. Mrs. Russell was killed while Mrs. Gantzert succumbed a few days later. It is a result of this accident that Mr. Russell has instituted the suit.

FISKE IN ATTACK ON DANIELS

Admiral Sends Letter to Senate Which Is Referred to Committee.

Washington, May 3.—Vice-President Marshall, in doubt as to the propriety of making public a communication to the senate criticising an official of the United States, declined to hand down a letter addressed to the senate by Rear-Admiral Bradley Fiske, assailing Secretary Daniels, and referred it to the naval committee for consideration.

The Fiske letter contains a denial of Secretary Daniels' statement in a communication to the senate April 21 that a letter from Admiral Fiske warning the navy department of an unprepared state never had been furnished him. Admiral Fiske says he handed the secretary this report personally and saw him read it.

IRISH REBELS LOSE 2,000 DURING REVOLT

500 Killed and 1,500 Wounded in Week's Fighting.

Dublin, May 3.—At least 500 rebels were killed and 1,500 wounded in the seven days of fighting in the streets of Dublin, it was estimated by soldiers who completed a canvass of the city.

This estimate is conservative, officers said. Rebel bodies were found beneath the ruins of the general post-office, which was wrecked by British shell fire; in Liberty Hall and in a number of other buildings demolished by artillery or burned to the ground.

Belfast, May 3.—One of the most tragic affairs of the rebellion was the ambushing of a party of police in County Heath by rebels, with the result that ten of the police were killed, eighteen wounded and the rest compelled to surrender.

TRIED TO DIE WHEN PARAMOUR DESERTED

FORMER ROCKFORD WOMAN DRANK ALCOHOL AND TURNED ON THE GAS.

Aurora, May 30.—Mrs. Lottie Coleman Nelson, aged 30 years, mother of a six year old boy, last night tried to kill herself at the home of a sister on North avenue, because the man she had been living with deserted her. Mrs. Nelson drank quantities of alcohol and turned on the gas in her room. She was found at 1 o'clock this morning and a physician who was hastily summoned saved her life.

Mrs. Nelson told the police that the man she loved, John Johnson, plumber, left her last Friday. She kissed her boy, she said, and then turned on the gas in the stove and in the gas jet her sister happened to awake and smelled the gas.

THE GIRL AND THE GAME

A STORY OF MOUNTAIN RAILROAD LIFE

By FRANK H. SPEARMAN

AUTHOR OF "WHISPERING SMITH," "THE MOUNTAIN DIVIDE," "STRATEGY OF GREAT RAILROADS," ETC

NOVELIZED FROM THE MOVING PICTURE PLAY OF THE SAME NAME. PRODUCED BY THE SIGNAL FILM CORPORATION.

SYNOPSIS.

COPYRIGHT 1915, BY FRANK H. SPEARMAN

Little Helen Holmes, daughter of General Holmes, railroad man, is rescued from imminent danger on a scenic railroad, by George Storm, a new boy, grown to young womanhood Helen makes a spectacular double rescue of Storm, now a freight train, and of her father and his friends, James Rhinelander, financier, and Robert Seagru, promoter, from a threatened collision between a passenger train and a runaway freight. Seagru's employee, by Seagru and Capelle, his lawyer, interrupted by Helen while stealing General Holmes' survey plans of the cut-off line for the Tidewater, fatally wound General Holmes and escape. Storm and Helen chase the murderers on a light engine and capture them. Spike has hidden the plans and manages to inform Seagru where they are caught. Her father's estate badly involved by his death, Helen goes to work on the Tidewater. Seagru helps Spike to break jail and uses him to set fire to a powder train hauled by Storm's engine. Helen saves Storm from a horrible death. Helen recovers the survey plans from Seagru, and though they are taken from her, finds an accidentally made proof of the survey blue print.

FIFTH INSTALLMENT

THE FIGHT AT SIGNAL STATION

Storm took a hand in. He felt his side was beaten, but would not quit. "Hold on," he said gruffly. "Not yet. This thing is in dispute. Take your time," he added to Delaney, and a significant look lent strength to his words. Again Rhinelander quieted Storm down. Delaney began giving orders to his men, and while Seagru kept a guarded eye on them, suspicious of some counter-move, Rhinelander and Storm accompanied Lyons and Helen into the station. Seagru's men, crowding after their triumphant foreman, gave the laugh to the Tidewater gang, who stood with their hands in their pockets, and started after the ties. Inside the office a perplexed and disgruntled group gathered around

Storm followed Seagru from the office and once outside and away from Helen he protested vigorously. Rhinelander, behind him, told Storm to keep cool. At that moment Delaney, breaking in, almost precipitated a riot. "Get out of this thing," he bellowed at Storm, "and keep out! Do you get that? You're talking too much."

With the words, he pushed Storm back. It was the wrong moment to lay hands on the stalwart young engineer, now greatly wrought up. His arm shot out and his fist caught Delaney on the jaw. The big foreman staggered.

Seagru, glad enough to find himself outside the center of the brawl, walked away only to encounter Spike as the latter, dashing in from the highway, sprang from his horse and hurriedly beckoned Seagru to him.

The two conferred in quick undertones together and Rhinelander, who stood with Helen and Lyons, watching them, saw them run to the tie cars, remove the billing cards and bring them back. Seagru, with the air of a man aggrieved, showed the cards to Rhinelander.

"What do you say to this?" he demanded, in the confirmation of his claims. "Call off your men. They're starting a riot here to keep me from taking possession of my own property."

Rhinelander, as near angry as he ever got, stamped his foot. "I tell you those ties don't belong to you. It's some trickery and thievery your gang has put up on us. This way, Lyons!"

Accompanied by the agent, Helen following, Rhinelander entered the station. Helen went to her desk to wire for a confirmation of the dispatcher's message. As she did this her eyes caught, muttered Seagru to Spike. "They'll wire for confirmation and help. We're in for trouble."

"No trouble at all," declared Spike coolly. "I'll save them the work of wiring."

"How?"

"By clipping their wire. Just keep cool, Seagru. I'll get you through."

Spike, without delay, climbed a pole and with a pair of clippers made good his threat. Helen, sitting at the instrument, was trying to call. She stopped. "The wires are cut," she exclaimed.

Seagru and Spike on the platform passed the window. Storm, at this juncture, ran in from the field of battle. "There's too many of them," he said in disgust. "Every time you knock one dago down, two Greeks come in to take his place. The way to wind this thing up, Mr. Rhinelander, quick and clean, is to capture Seagru and lock him up. We can do it. Stick him in the freighthouse here and pile a couple of dozen bags of cement on him. No? I say, yes! Something's got to be done."

"Can't you get a message through somehow?" asked Rhinelander of Helen in agitation.

"Yes," she answered, unhesitatingly. "I can. I'll get one through for you." So saying, she caught up an extra instrument, ran out on the platform and climbed the pole Spike had climbed, to cut in with her pony above the break.

Storm called into conference the handiest of his men—men who cared neither for the law nor the devil—and giving brief and hurried instructions, ran from the station at the moment that Seagru with his outfit were rushing the outnumbered Tidewater gang.

Pushing straight through his own demoralized forces to the thick of the scrimmage, knocking men right and left when he had to and dodging in between when he could, Storm, his two trusties at his elbows, struck, shoved and jumped his way straight to where Seagru was urging his fighting men on. The latter, busy with the main encounter, saw Storm too late. The engineer, catching him by the collar whirled him unceremoniously around, pinioned him before a blow could be struck and with his helpers dragged him victoriously off.

Bedlam was let loose. Seagru's men, seeing the trick too late, ran in with a yell to rescue him. Back and forth the fight swayed, while Helen, above at the depot, attached her instrument and sent to the dispatcher her hurry-up message. "Seagru has the ties. Send help. H."

But whoever had the ties, Storm had Seagru, and his men were now easily standing off the onslaughts of Seagru's men on the platform. The latter, needing help, sent for reinforcements, and a moment later the entire gang, leaving the unloading of the tie cars ran down the track to join in the fight. The train was left deserted. Storm, seeing this, turned, his prisoner over to his men and chose a moment when he could break away to run to the engine. Gaining the cab, he immediately started to back the train up to Rhinelander's camp, where the main body of their men still were. As the train drew past the station, Helen, having finished, sprang recklessly from the pole to the top of a box car and running forward met Storm, who had started back, and showed him a message from the dispatcher:

"Will send sheriff to Signal."

While the men were still fighting in front of the station, Spike managed to tear himself loose from the fray in time to see the freight train backing up the hill. He knew what this meant and realized the move must be stopped. Running to his horse he mounted and spurred after the receding train. But his intervention had turned the fighting in favor of Seagru's men, and they were fast beating Rhinelander's gang off. By a sudden rush on the freighthouse they even recaptured and released Seagru himself.

The latter, covering the situation at a glance, saw, as Spike had seen, the real danger: Storm now in possession of the ties was running away with them.

Yelling to his men, Seagru bade them drop the fight and follow. Spike on his horse was fast overtaking the train.

Running his horse close to the moving train, Spike sprang from the saddle to the engine itself and started back. As he came over the top of the cab, Storm on the tender confronted him and the two grappled. Helen had at once taken the throttle, but Spike, fighting Storm back into the coal quickly put him at a disadvantage. It was, in fact, overpowering him when Helen came to the rescue and rapped the convict smartly over the head. She jumped back to the engineer's seat in time to halt the train opposite Rhinelander's camp, and without losing a moment she ran over to headquarters, where she gave the alarm to Wood and asked him to hurry the remainder of the construction gang over to the train before the cars should be stolen again by their active enemies. Wood, who would rather fight than eat, responded like a whirlwind, and heading his men, started them across the fields on the run for the kidnapped train.

Storm had, meantime, dropped a rope around Spike's neck. He tied him to the engine cab just as Helen, with her reinforcements, reached the tie cars and the men hurriedly began the unloading.

They were not to have an easy time of it. Seagru, with his rioters, had already climbed the hill and was urging them forward. Not a soul on the engine had a weapon, and as Seagru's men came on it looked as if the train would be taken then and there by force of numbers. Helen, however, was not without resources.

"Give them the live steam, George, and a lot of it, quick," she cried. "Don't let them capture us."

Storm needed no more than the hint. Turning on the valve he let loose a hot cloud that drove Seagru and his gang gasping from the engine. The foremost of the men caught in the white fog were glad to get away unhurt, and halting at a safe distance rallied for orders.

Delaney, whose fighting blood was just getting warmed up, saw a further chance and called to his men to follow him around the cut. The gang divided and Delaney's part of it, starting over the hill, met Rhinelander's men. For a time there was a hot mix-up. As the enemy came on in ever increasing numbers, Wood and his men were soon getting the worst of it, but fresh shouts were heard down the hill and at the moment the sheriff's posse—now arrived—running in, took the side of Rhinelander's men and helped them beat Seagru's gang back.

Outnumbered, driven from their vantage ground and disheartened at the unexpected diversion of the enemy, Seagru's men sullenly gave way; even Bill Delaney's fiercest efforts failed to rally them. It was only a few minutes before the sheriff's men were making prisoners right and left, rounding up the stragglers and marching them down the cut. The hill had been won and lost, but the ties had been firmly held and were safely in Rhinelander's possession.

Storm, with a grin, went back to the engine to get their personal prisoner, the redoubtable Spike. They took him back to where the sheriff was giving his orders for the disposition of those under arrest. Helen explained to the sheriff very forcibly just what Spike had done.

"Well," demanded the official jocularly, "what'll we do with him? String him up right here in a box car?"

"No," exclaimed Helen, indignantly. "You can do better than that." She pointed to Seagru, now also under arrest. "Put those two men at work unloading these ties for our camp. They are the ringleaders in the whole affair. If they had their deserts, they would both be in the penitentiary. Make them work, sheriff. That's the last thing that pair want to do." Rhinelander came up with his men as the finished.

"You're right," declared the sheriff, good humored over the outcome. "From the look of 'em, what those guys need is a dose of good, hard work." He turned to his deputies and pointed to the ties. "Get those fellows up on the flat cars and see they both work every minute till the last tie is unloaded."

"Suppose they refuse to work," suggested a deputy.

"Refuse?" echoed the sheriff, savagely. "If they do, find a pump that will work and give 'em the cold water."

But Seagru and Spike did work. When Helen, Rhinelander and Storm left the scene the two, beading with sweat, were pitching ties in record time.

THIS IS CERTAIN

THE PROOF THAT DIXON READERS CANNOT DENY

What could furnish stronger evidence of the efficiency of any remedy than the test of time? Thousands of people testify that Doan's Kidney Pills have brought lasting results.

Home endorsement should prove undoubtedly the merit of this remedy. Years ago your friends and neighbors testified to the relief they had derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. They now confirm their testimonials. They say time has completed the test.

C. J. Kirkham, 522 Peoria Ave., Dixon, says: "I suffered from pains across my back for a long time. I didn't think the trouble was caused by disordered kidneys, but when a friend recommended Doan's Pills, I got a box at Leake Bros. Drug store. They completely rid me of the backache and all other symptoms of kidney complaint."

OVER THREE YEARS LATER, Mr. Kirkham said: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney disease and the cure has been permanent."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Kirkham has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

CONSCRIPTION IS UP IN COMMONS

Asquith Presents Measure Following Announcement.

HAVE ARMED 5,000,000 MEN

Forces increased from 26 Divisions at Start of war to 83 Now, Says Premier—Allies Gaining in Strength Daily, He Declares—Birrell Ouster to Come Up.

London, May 3.—Premier Asquith declared in the house of commons that the bill that the government has just introduced is one of general and immediate compulsion.

The prime minister announced that the whole recruiting problem would be dealt with in a single bill.

Mr. Asquith told the members of the house of commons that the total naval and military effort of the British Empire since the beginning of the war exceeded 5,000,000 men.

Move Is Complete Surprise.
Premier Asquith said the British army, excluding Indians and including the Dominions, comprised eighty-three divisions.

Mr. Asquith said that while in August, 1914, the British army, at home and overseas, consisted of twenty-six divisions, there were now seventy-one divisions, including the naval division.

The premier's announcement that universal conscription had been decided on came as a complete surprise. It had been understood that the prime minister would give the voluntary system of obtaining recruits for the army a few weeks more trial before asking the enactment of a law calling to the colors all married men eligible for service, as well as single men included in the conscription measure which recently passed parliament.

Victory for Lloyd-George.
Premier Asquith's decision for compulsory service is a complete victory for Minister of Munitions Lloyd-George and the Northcliffe papers, which have waged a campaign for general military service for many months.

Adoption of the policy of general conscription will add to the British armies a force variously estimated at between 300,000 and 600,000 men.

To Debate Birrell Ouster.
Premier Asquith promised parliament that at a suitable opportunity the government would permit debate on the motion calling for the resignation of Secretary for Ireland Birrell, because of the Dublin outbreak. He added that conditions in Ireland are now nearly normal.

Premier Asquith also said the public was naturally depressed by the deplorable incident of the surrender of the garrison at Kut-el-Amara, but that it was not an event of military importance. He also brought up criticisms on the Gallipoli and other disasters.

Says Allies' Position Is Good.
"My answer to all this," Mr. Asquith continued, "is that if there have been mistakes or blunders, perhaps both in policy or strategy, our contribution—the contribution of a United Kingdom and the empire to the common cause—has grown and is growing steadily month by month, and is greater at this moment and better directed than ever before. And the naval and military situation of the allies has never been so good as it is today."

"We have to put up with these things," the premier said. He added that the government would not be disturbed by them as long as it retained the confidence of the country.

GREEKS URGE INTERVENTION
Mass Meeting at Saloniki Indorses the Policy of Venizelos.

Paris, May 3.—The first mass meeting at Saloniki of the Greek liberal party since the arrival there of the allied troops has been held.

The Havas correspondent at Saloniki says that an immense crowd gathered to listen to the Greek orators, who demanded that Greece return to the policies of the former premier, M. Venizelos, and intervene in the war on the side of Serbia and her allies.

The crowd cheered references to France and England, the correspondent says, and shouted its disapproval of Germany, Austria and Bulgaria.

PERSIA TO BE REFINANCED
Russia and England Will Have Hand in First Budget.

London, May 3.—A Russian news agency dispatch from Teheran says arrangements have been completed for the formation of a commission to supervise the finances of Persia.

The Persian treasurer general will preside over the commission which will include representatives of Russia and England. The body will decide what financial assistance Persia requires from England and Russia, will control expenditures and will draft the first real Persian budget.

Plumbers Strike.
Green Bay, May 3.—Plumbers here are striking for 25 cents a day more pay, making $5, and Saturday half holiday. Employers are willing to grant the half holiday.

TWO RELIEF SHIPS FOR BELGIUM SUNK
Both of ill-fated Vessels Chartered by U. S.

London, May 3.—Two vessels under charter by the American commission for the relief of Belgium, the Swedish steamship Fridland and the British steamer Hendonhall, have been sunk within two days.

A wireless dispatch received at the North Foreland station from the Dutch steamship Batavia IV, announced that the Fridland was sinking. This Swedish vessel sailed from Portland April 14, bound for Rotterdam and had 7,000 tons of wheat on board. The British steamship Hendonhall, which was reported sunk while bound from Portland and Lousburg for Rotterdam, also had been chartered by the Belgian relief commission.

WON'T SEARCH LAKE SHIPS

Canadian Government Announces It Won't Molest Those Entering Ports.
Detroit, May 3.—William Livingston, president of the Lake Carriers' association, has made public a telegram from Secretary of State Lansing, giving assurance that the Canadian government does not intend to exercise the right of search on vessels visiting Canadian lake ports.
A report recently was published to the effect that the Canadian authorities intended to remove sailors of belligerent nations from great lakes steamers touching at Canadian ports, and Mr. Livingston brought the matter before the state department.

TWELVE KILLED IN STRIKE RIOT
Charge on Braddock Steel Mill Met With Fusillade.

FIGHTS STILL ARE GOING ON

Mob Of Thousands After Invading Plants in Vicinity of Pittsburgh Is Met With Volley at Westinghouse Plant—Rioters Attack Edgar Thomson Steel Works.

Pittsburgh, May 3.—Probably a dozen lives were lost in rioting at the Westinghouse plant in Braddock. Four bodies have been picked up about the scene of the fighting, and thirty-five wounded have been attended by physicians and in hospitals.

The rioting is still in progress, desultory fighting by guards and rioters being continued at the Thirteenth street and Baltimore and Ohio Railroad entrances to the Edgar Thomson steel mill, where between 6,000 and 7,000 men were at work. The rioters are being steadily re-enforced. Of eight wounded who were taken to the Braddock Hospital surgeons said four might die. Among them were Frank Williams and his wife, who were standing in an alley watching the fight when hit.

Three Killed in Charge.
Three men were killed and seven wounded when the mob charged the Thirteenth street entrance of the plant in the afternoon.

The mob charged the gates leading to the mill and was driven back by deputies. Reforming a little further down the street it made another rush and attempting to scale the fence was met with a volley from the guards' revolvers. This halted the rush, and again the crowd retired.

Sheriff Richards at once conferred with state officials, asking that the National Guard be ordered to the disturbed section at once.

The mob which entered Braddock marched to the plant of the Sterling Steel Foundry Company, and forcing an entrance, drove the men from their machines and smashed windows and otherwise damaged the buildings.

Plan to Invade Homestead.
Leaders of the crowd then reformed their lines and declared they were preparing to move on the Carnegie works at Homestead. The plant, it was stated, was well guarded by coal and iron police.

Before crossing the bridge into Homestead the mob turned toward the McVey & Walker foundry, where 2,000 men are employed, but the gates were slammed shut and the crowd contented itself with breaking windows. Other plants were visited, property damaged and workers injured.

WOMAN WOUNDED BY BROTHER SUCCUMBS

Statement Clears Mystery of East St. Louis Tragedy.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 3.—Miss Henrietta Mitchell of Paris, Ill., who was shot by her brother, Steve, April 13, when she rejected his plan to settle their mother's estate for which he came from St. Louis, is dead from the wound. Her brother escaped, thinking he had killed her instantly.

When Miss Mitchell was first wounded she told the Terre Haute police that her brother, Steve, also known as "Kelly" Mitchell, had told her that he was the man who killed Policeman Marion League in East St. Louis, February 28, last, and also that he had killed a negro in Barton, Kan. Circulars have been sent broadcast by the police of both cities, endeavoring to locate Mitchell.

The policeman was killed responding to a burglar alarm. A benefit for his family lately given netted about $2,500.
